TULSA 66ERS

On July 31, 2008, the Professional Basketball Club, LLC., owners of the Oklahoma City Thunder NBA franchise, purchased the Tulsa 66ers of the NBA Development League from Southwest Basketball, LLC. Oklahoma City became the third NBA team to purchase an NBA D-League affiliate, joining the Los Angeles Lakers (L.A. D-Fenders) and the San Antonio Spurs (Austin Toros) as sole owners of their affiliates.

Last season, the 66ers posted a franchise-best 27-23 record during the regular season and earned their first trip to the D-League playoffs. Tallying a 4-4 record in the postseason, Tulsa advanced to the D-League finals against the Rio Grande Valley Vipers. The 2009-10 season was also highlighted by the Oklahoma City Thunder sending Byron Mullens, D.J. White, Kyle Weaver and Mustafa Shakur for extensive stints with the 66ers.

Shakur led the 66ers in scoring last season with 19.3 points per game while averaging a team-best 6.9 assists per game. Latavious Williams paced the team with 7.7 rebounds per outing. Williams, drafted in the first round in the 2009 D-League Draft by the 66ers, became the first ever player to make the jump from high school to the NBA D-League. The Starkville, Mississippi, product was then acquired via trade by the Oklahoma City Thunder in the 2010 NBA Draft last June.

The 66ers play their home games in the newly renovated Tulsa Convention Center. Located on the corner of Seventh and Houston in downtown, the Convention Center features three new High Definition LED video boards, six suites, including a 40-person party suite, and a major renovation of the exterior and south entrance.

During his tenure with the Thunder, Presti has worked diligently to assemble the building blocks for long-term success both on and off the court.

Commencing with the 2007 draft, Presti selected Kevin Durant, the University of Texas standout with the team's No. 2 overall pick. Since then, Durant has gone onto win the NBA's Rookie of The Year award and this past season he became the Thunder's first ever All-Star selection.

This last year, Presti and his staff oversaw one of the largest turnarounds in NBA history. A year after winning 23 games, the Thunder concluded the 2009-10 season with a record of 50-32 (.610). After capturing the franchise's first playoff birth in Oklahoma City, Presti was named NBA Executive of the Year by The Sporting News.

Through the NBA draft, Presti has continued to add the pieces needed to achieve the organization's singular focus of working toward sustained success on the floor and in the community. Presti selected forward Jeff Green 5th overall on draft night 2007 through a trade with the Boston Celtics before nabbing UCLA guard Russell Westbrook and Serge Ibaka with the 4th and 24th selections in the 2008 draft. NBA Cares is the league's global social responsibility program that builds on the NBA's long tradition of addressing important social issues. The NBA and its teams and players support a wide range of initiatives, partners, and programs that strive to positively impact children and families around the world. As part of the league's mission to demonstrate leadership in social responsibility, NBA Cares reaches communities using philanthropy, hands-on service, and creating legacy projects. Since the program's October 2005 launch, the league, its players, and its teams have donated more than $140 million to charity, provided more than 1.1 million hours of hands-on service, and created more than 500 places where kids and families can live, learn, or play. NBA Cares reaches millions of children and adults through specialized programs – including NBA FIT and Basketball without Borders – that support education, youth and family development, and health and wellness. The league and its teams and players also promote environmental awareness and sustainability through NBA Green. During annual high-profile league events, including NBA All-Star, The Finals, and international preseason games, NBA Cares initiates community outreach efforts to tap into the power of sport for positive social change. Thanks to strong partnerships with internationally recognized community organizations – including KaBOOM!, Special Olympics, Boys & Girls Clubs of America, UNICEF, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, the Global Business Coalition on HIV/AIDS, Malaria and Tuberculosis, and the UN Foundation – NBA Cares makes a positive and lasting impact in communities around the world. RUMBLE'S STORY:

For hundreds of years the tale has been told around Native American campfires. A great herd of American bison was lost in the Arbuckle Mountains during a ferocious storm – the kind only Oklahoma can produce.

Hail fell and tornadoes spun all around the herd as they stampeded, trying to find their way down to the safety of the plains.

One lone bison stayed behind as he helped each of his friends escape down a treacherous ravine ... once all of his friends were safe he began his descent only to find his way blocked by fallen boulders.

Lost, he climbed to the tallest peak; left to face the storm alone ¬and searching for a way down the mountain, he was struck by a bolt of lightning.

The bolt did not destroy him, but, by the power of the god of thunder, changed him. Suddenly, he walked on two legs like a man. He possessed amazing strength and agility – he could jump higher, run faster, think more clearly than any beast.

But because he was no longer just a bison – and yet not a man – he was alone.

With many sightings, the legend grew through the years, of a mighty bison, with remarkable powers, roaming the hills alone.

Not until a group of men who carried similar powers came to Oklahoma City did he find somewhere he belonged. These men also possessed the power to jump higher, run faster, and perform acrobatic dunks more spectacular than anyone in the land. They too carried the roar of Thunder every time they took to the court.

So he joined their team. And the new legend of Rumble was born.

Leach began his career as an on-air personality in radio for eight years in both Houston and San Diego. He was hired fulltime by the Houston Rockets in 2000 in the Game Operations department. Prior to joining the Rockets fulltime, Leach was responsible for game music in Houston during their Championship seasons in 1994 and 1995, and actually has a ring to prove it. He helped move the Rockets into the new Toyota Center and played in integral role in creating a new interactive NBA experience with, drummers, break dancers, tumblers and world champion jump ropers that were all part of the team's branded game-night entertainment. Leach was recruited by the Charlotte Bobcats to start the game entertainment department when Charlotte was awarded a franchise in 2004. He's been in Oklahoma City for 2 seasons and acknowledges how great it is to produce an NBA experience for the grateful Thunder Fans.

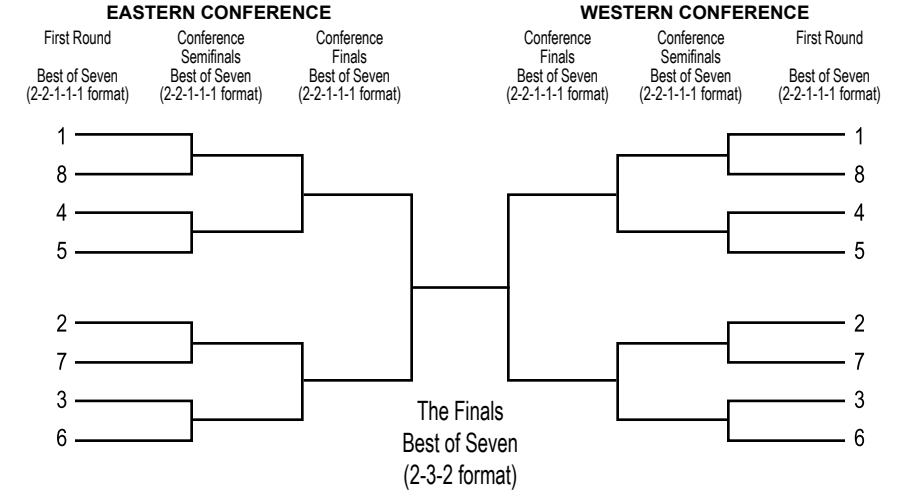
NBA PLAYOFF STRUCTURE/ATTENDANCE

2011 NBA PLAYOFF STRUCTURE



Eight teams from each conference qualify for the NBA Playoffs. The three division winners and the team with the next-best record from each conference will receive the top four seeds and will be ranked Nos. 1-4 according to their regular-season records. The remaining four teams in each conference will be seeded 5-8 according to their won-lost records. In each round of the playoffs, the team with the better regular-season won-lost record gets the home-court advantage.

All rounds of the playoffs are a best-of-seven series. Each best-of-seven series will play 2-2-1-1-1 format except for the NBA Finals, which is a 2-3-2 format.

The INTEGRIS Health Thunder Development Center

Officials from the City of Oklahoma City, INTEGRIS Health and the Oklahoma City Thunder broke ground in August of 2009 on the Thunder's new practice facility. With construction still underway, the new facility will officially be known as The INTEGRIS Health Thunder Development Center.

Funding for construction of the practice facility and renovations to the team's downtown arena comes from a one-cent sales tax approved by Oklahoma City voters on March 4, 2008.

The 15-month tax took effect on January 1, 2009 ran through March 31, 2010. As part of the lease agreement, the Thunder will make an annual rent payment to the City of Oklahoma City.

During the groundbreaking ceremony, Oklahoma City Mayor Mick Cornett commented, "Having the Thunder in Oklahoma City has been a tremendous sense of pride for our community. When the citizens of Oklahoma City passed the Big League City initiative to renovate the city's downtown arena and build an NBA-leading practice facility, we all looked forward to this day. This building will be one of the finest practice facilities in the NBA, and we're very excited to be able to provide this building to the Thunder."

The new facility will feature a 27-seat team classroom that will allow coaches and players to use video and computer technology to assist in the continued development of the team. There will also be an expanded sports medicine and hydrotherapy area that will benefit the Thunder's medical and training staff in the prevention and rehabilitation of injuries.

INTEGRIS Health is the official health care provider of the Oklahoma City Thunder.
